The Political Situation Getting Worse-Prime Ruling-The King of Portugal Daily Growing in Unpopularity - Spanish Intrigue

LONDON, Oct. 14, 1870. A Madrid correspondent, writing on the 10th, says:—The political situation in Spain is daily growing worse as the reopening of the Cortes approaches. The different parties expresses an anxious desire to put an end to the personal government of Prim, whose overtures, made by letters, to form a Mintstry of conclination, met with the same fate as his proposition to accord the attributes of the executive power to the regent.

The news from Portugal continues to be bad. qud. The King is daily falling into greater disfavor with the Portuguese. The Philadelphia Election Affray-Nolen's Deposition. PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14, 1870.

The physicians have pronounced the wound re-ceived by Nolen yesterday as fatal in character. Last night he made the following deposition:-

I. John C. Nolen, do solemnly and sincerely make this my dying declaration, that I was shot with a pistol in the hands of Alexander Crawford. And I urther declare that this murder was committed at the instigation of and by the agency of William B. Mann, late District Attorney, this act being done while I was upon the floor of the court room on Chesanut street, above Figh.

Mr. Mann admits telling Crawford to defend himself, but denies that he told him to shoot Nolon.

Noten is rather better to-day, the hemorrhage having been arrested. The physicians think he will recover, unless a secondary nemorrhage takes place. The pistol used by Crawford was taken by him a few minutes before the shooting from the hands or a man named Ahern, one of the persons who attempted to enter the court room where the judges of diction returns were holding their session.

THE NATHAM MURDER.

More Mystery and Speculation-Return of Detectives from Europe-Where They Have

The detectives of the Central Police Office have recently expressed the belief that the late Superintendent of Police and Captain Kelso were from the first satisfied who committed the murder of Mr. Benjamin Nathan; but not possessing the evidence to convict they felt it would be madness to make an arrest and subject the suspected party to public exposure. Within a few days two or three detectives have expressed their candid convictions that the criminal would yet be secured and brought to justice. One of these gentlemen, who, from the day of the murder until the present time, has been intimately associated in the work of clearing up the mystery, romarked to a Herath reporter that before many days new light would be thrown upon it, and he felt sanguine that the great aim of the force would have been achieved. For some time the unblic and the press rays course in some time the public and the press have consequenced in the time the public and the press have consequenced in the time the time that the time to be a mystery likely to re-ann of the force would have been achieved. For some time the public and the press have ceased to give the Twenty-thiru street tragedy any serious thoughts, believing it to be a mystery likely to remain locked in the heart of the assassin for all time. Certain movements of the detectives and other officials within the past three days have given rise to the suspicion—and it is omly a suspicion—that the authorities have secured some new light. Discarding all surmises, it is proper to state just what these movements are and allow the public to form their own conclusions.

Soon after the murder—about the 10th of last August—Detective John Dunne, of Caplain Koiso's command, and Detective West, of the Baltimore force, left for Europe, under secret instructions from the late Superintendent. They have travelled in the interim over a large portion of England, Ireland and Scotland in search of corroborative testimony and returned to the city on Thursday by the steamship Wisconsin, of the Williams & Guion line. On Wednesday one of the Police Commissioners instructed a police capitain to proceed to Sandy Hook, and, awaiting the arrival of a European steamer, telegraph the moment she was signalied. This European steamer is supposed to be the Wisconsin, of the Williams & Guion line, between that the detectives have brought with them important evidence, if not a prisoner or witness for whom they have sought so long and diligently. The detectives arrived in the Central building just as the funeral cortiage or witness for whom they have sought so long and diligently. THE CABINET IMBROGLIO.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14, 1870.

Another Change in the Cabinet-Resignation of Secretary Cox-The Attorney General to Follow Suit-Delano and Williams to Fill the Vacant Perticios.

The rumors and speculations about Cabinet reoranization have at length assumed a tangible shape. I believe I may say I have got to the bottom of them, and that summed up briefly they amount to this:— Cox is to withdraw from the Interior Department, and Delano, the present efficient Commissioner of Internal Revenue, is to succeed him. During the winter Akerman is to retire on account of his health and Senator Williams, of Oregon, is to be made Attorney General. The cause of Cox's resignation is a disagreement between him and the President in relation to the assessment of government clerks and allowing them to go home to vote without baving the time of their absence deducted from their salaries. It will be remembered that when the Congressional Executive Republican Committee sought to circulate among the clerks of the Interior Department their circular appealing for funds for campaign purposes, Secretary Cox inter-posed a voto. He believed that the clerks should be let alone, that their subscriptions for party purposes should be voluntary, not forced, and that to adopt any other policy would be ruinous to republican or ganization. Secretary Cox, however, made a grand blunder when he allowed an order to be issued threatening the clerks who should go home to vote that they must do so at their own expense and expect a proportionate deduction from their salaries. Such an order created a tremendous uproar. Not only were the c'erks themselves roused to indignation and anger by it, but the politicians all over the country set up a clamor, forwarded tons of letters to Washington protesting against it, and kicked up generally such a tremendous fuss and excitement that the President was constrained to take notice of it. When the President returned in one of his flying visits he promptly penned an order revoking that then sprang up the "onpleasantness," which has finally brought about such a condition of things as to render Mr. Cox's resignation indispensable. That resignation was sent to the President, and is now in his hands. Old Simon Cameron and Zach Chandler appear to have been the chief agents in bringing this state of affairs Chandler - came here all the way from Michigan to protest against the retention of Cox any longer in the Cabinet. He made no secret of his object, and, in fact, was loud in denunciation of the nead of the luterior Department. It was a common thing to hear the remark about the White House, when Chandler made one of his visits, There goes old Zach after the scalp of Interior Cox." Zach was ably and zealously backed by old Simon, of Pennsylvania, who had a sittle game of his own to play, and played it with his accustomed skill and adrottness. Cameron's little game amounts to this:-While everybody has been supposing that he was working to obtain a Cabinet appointment for Penns lvania it seems b was only pulling wool over the eyes of his constituents. His object was, in reality, to elevate Columbus Delano, whose office he had been working to his own purposes very successfully. Camgot all the Internal Revenue patronage he desired from Delano, beating all the Congressman from his State, and running things pretty much as he liked. In return for this he labored for Delano's elevation to the Interior Department, knowing full well that on his appointment the vast patronage of that complex position would be in his bands. Accordingly, when Chandler and Cameron were together with the President, and the latter had agreed to retire Cox, and when the President said to them, "Gentlemen, whom shall I appoint in the place of Cox ?" they both answered Columbus Delano. Mr. Delano has always stood very high in the estimation of the President, who has on various occasions commended warmly the able and efficient management of the Internal Revenue Office, and who, moreover, it will be remembered, recommended the formation of a new department, specially for the purpose of elevating his friend Delano, and thus rewarding an able officer; therefore he received the name of Delano with great favor; Indeed, it was instantly agreed that Delano should be the man. This is a brief outline of the manœuvring. As to Williams, he will obtain the Attorney Generalship at the close of his Senatorial last night by a friend to know whether it was true he had resigned. His answer was, "Not yet. For further particulars apply at the White House. am assured, nowever, that his resignation is in the hands of the President, as above stated, and that in all probability on Monday next, if not sooner, it will be accepted. Who will get Delano's place as Commissioner of Internal Revenue in the event of this programme being carried out is not yet decided. Cameron favors Douglass, of Pennsylvania, who is now the chief assistant of Mr. Delano, and it is not improbable at all that he will be the man.

Adjourned County Convention of the Young

Democracy—Completion of the County Ticket. The adjourned Convention of the Young Democracy, at Apollo Hall, last evening, was small in point of numbers. It was near nine o'clock before the Convention began. Very few of the supposed leaders were present. Sheriff O'Brien and Judge Ledwith were conspicuous by their absence. Judge Barrett, in opening the proceedings, referred to the spirit of harmony which had characterized the previous meeting. Congressman Fox then proposed the following nominations for county officers:— Comptroller-J. Netson Tappen, of the Twenty-

Josiah W. Brown, of the Fifteenth ward. ward.

Coroners—Dr. Thomas C. Knox, of the Ninth ward; Cornelius Flynn, of the First ward; Dr. August Harmann, of the Eleven h ward.

Mr. Henry L. Clinyon then made a speech eulogistic of the nominations so far made by the Young Democracy. He denounced the Tammany Hall party for strengthening themselves by affiliating with and appointing republicans to important offices. After this speech the Convention adjourned.

After the Convention

journed.

After the Convention an angry discussion are secutive of Apollo Hall in regard to the conduct of the Young Democracy of the Twelfth, Eighteenth and Twenty-first wards in supporting Fernando Wood, the Tammeny nominee for Congress. High words were bandled about, not only in reference to this matter, but to what, according to the allegations of many present, was the evident withdrawal of Sheriff O'Brien's support to the nominations made so far by the Young Democracy.
